Help !Setup for dormitory - [Solved]

2019/11/11

I live in a dorm room with other two members . But we have only one Ethernet port on the wall. We have connected a router with basic settings .After connecting to router , a loginpage appears in browser to sign in to the network . If any of us signs in to the network , we can have internet through our wireless device but speed is low and it seems we are not using the network at its best speed . At the same time other two members dont need to sign in to network , because the login page doesn't appear anymore . Is there a possible way that we can use the net connection separately signing in to the network ? We all have different login usernames and passwords .
